A Resolution to Establish the International Artificial Intelligence Cooperative (IAIC)

WHEREAS, AI has been beneficial, but has also seen some conflicts, this resolution aims to address the issues that occurred from AI's rapid growth as well as lack of oversight.

WHEREAS, Artificial intelligence shall hereby be defined as machinery meant to simulate human behavior and or learning.

RESOLVED, To act upon this, the United States will start the International Artificial Intelligence Cooperative (IAIC), a global organization that will create flexible enforcement mechanisms to reduce the misuses of AI while still allowing for innovation and encouraging its benefits. The IAIC will base its framework on the European Union's "AI Act" meant to promote people-centered and trustworthy AI, while protecting people's health, safety, and fundamental rights from AI itself.

RESOLVED, Each country that uses AI must fund the IAIC in proportion to its AI usage; countries with the Highest overall AI usage will be responsible for providing the greatest funding.

RESOLVED, The IAIC's primary goal is to promote people's well-being in the midst of AI innovation. Therefore, through the IAIC, each country will be responsible for taxing its nation for each IAIC violation. The revenue acquired through said taxation will be used to further fund the IAIC's mission.

FURTHER RESOLVED, An environmental IAIC violation will be defined as exceeding 600 metric tons of CO2 emissions in training and using AI systems annually, this will strictly reference to AI servers, not cloud or other data servers; a human job violation will be defined as AI replacing more than 20% of a country's human workforce; and a safety violation will be defined as the leaking of consumer data. The penalty for each violation will be at the discretion of each member country.
